Westmoreland reveals:

His study of plan to use nuclear weapons was killed by Washington

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland says he set up a secret group in Saigon to study the possibility of using nuclear weapons in South Vietnam. But he said Washington didn't like the idea and terminated the project.

The retired general says the use "of a few small tactical nuclear weapons" might have brought the Vietnam war to a favorable end.

The nuclear weapons study is revealed in Westmoreland's memoirs, "War In Vain?" to be published by the Doubleday Company next January.

Westmoreland, former commander of American forces in Vietnam, says he considered using nuclear weapons to defend the besieged U.S. marine base of Khe Sanh in 1968. He said President Lyndon B. Johnson was so concerned about the Communist siege that he required the Joint Chiefs of Staff to "sign in blood" that Khe Sanh could be held.

Early in the fight, Johnson telephoned Gen. Earl Wheeler, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to ask if there was a chance that he would have to make a decision involving the use of nuclear weaponry and to advise in advance that "he had no wish to be faced with it," Westmoreland writes.

Westmoreland says he went ahead anyway and established "a small, secret group" in Saigon to study the possibility of a nuclear defense of Khe Sanh.

"Although I recognized the controversial nature of the subject, and that employing nuclear tactical weapons would be a political decision, I nevertheless considered that I would be imprudent if I failed to acquaint myself with the possibilities in detail," he writes.

Khe Sanh, surrounded by nearly 20,000 North Vietnamese troops, was ideal for nuclear warfare "because the region was virtually uninhabited and civilian casualties would be minimal," Westmoreland writes.

The four-star general says he reasoned that "if Washington officials were so intent on sending a message to Hanoi" surely small tactical nuclear weapons would be a way to tell Hanoi something, just as two atomic bombs had spoken convincingly to Japanese officials during World War II.

Westmoreland adds, "The threat of atomic bombs induced the North Koreans to accept meaningful negotiations during the Korean War. It could be that the use of a few small tactical nuclear weapons in Vietnam — or even the threat of them — might have brought the war there to an end."

Westmoreland says he regretted that "Washington somehow learned of it (the nuclear weapons study) and told me to desist."

"No one could say with certainty, of course, but a detailed consideration of the possibility was warranted.... I felt at the time, and even more so now, that to fail to consider the alternative was a mistake."

Reprieve for NYC, but default is predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame of New York said today that his city, which won a last-minute financial reprieve on Friday, will undoubtedly default by the end of the year if it does not get federal assistance.

In testimony for the Senate Banking Committee, Beame said that after Friday's narrow escape, "no additional proof should be needed that the state, the city and our financial institutions have reached the limit of their credit resources."

The city was rescued from its narrowest brush yet with fiscal disaster Friday afternoon when the teachers' union relented and agreed to use its pension funds to help refinance $453 million in debt obligations which came due at 3 p.m.

"There can no longer be any doubt; without appropriate federal assistance, the City of New York will default by the end of the year," Beame told the committee, which is considering ways the federal government could help.

"I know we can make a good case for federal assistance to the city, but I know too that many Americans hold the curious opinion that New York City is somehow not a part of the United States," Beame said.

Summarizing the developments that led New York to the brink of default, Beame said there was ample justification for the federal government to guarantee a portion of the city's debt.

He said the federal government already provides about $202 billion in loan guarantees through various agencies "to preserve and promote sectors of our economy and to encourage stability and development abroad."

"I cannot understand why this principle should not apply with equal force to New York City under the present circumstances," Beame said.

The city faces some $1 billion in obligations through November and an estimated $2.16 billion in December and January with no source of the money in sight.

With Beame before the committee was New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu.

Landrieu, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, criticized President Ford on Friday for the administration's continuing opposition to providing federal aid to the city.

"I find it awfully strange that there is strong administration support for economic aid to foreign countries, both friends and enemies, and that there has been administration support for Penn Central and other financial giants pleading bankruptcy," he said.

Throughout the crisis, Ford and his spokesmen have emphasized the need for fiscal austerity by the city.

Gov. Hugh Carey, who has put together one deal after another in the past six months to avert the city's financial collapse, emerged from around-the-clock negotiations Friday to announce, "We are not in default."

That ended a day of concern in which the city's plight had provided at least a first taste of the international economic repercussions which some analysts had warned would follow default.

Bond trading on Wall Street had all but halted, and stock prices were sharply declining in slow trading. In Europe, currency trading came close to a standstill, and world gold prices rose in a pattern which suggested that the value of the U.S. dollar could be hurt if default were allowed to occur.

Carey sent a telegram to Ford declaring that New York was "exhausting its resources" to avert default through November and that after that "the welfare of our citizens rests in the hands of our federal government."

"We need not a handout, but the recognition by the federal government that we are a part of this country," Carey said, repeating his call for federal guarantees of the city's borrowings to allow it to raise money in private financial markets.

But in Washington, there was no indication that Ford's opposition to such help was softening.

At the height of Friday's crisis, White House Press Secretary Ronald Nessen declared that Ford "will not take action to prevent a New York City default."

And Ford himself, in an interview during the day with Cox newspapers, declared that "nothing I have seen so far — and there must have been six or seven alternatives that have been suggested to me by a variety of people in and out of government — are an answer, and they all open potentially serious problems of one kind or another."

State and city officials are pinning their hopes on Congress, believing that the Republican President might sign aid legislation despite his protestations if the Democratic majority in the Capitol takes on the political burden of acting first.

The most optimistic of Carey's advisers profess hope that Ford will eventually acquiesce, saying the President is publicly maintaining an adamant stance only to insure that the state proceeds firmly in massive budget cuts it is now imposing on the city.

Those cuts, conducted under the aegis of the state-dominated Emergency Financial Control Board, began earlier this week, when Beame presented plans for trimming $200 million from this year's budget — an approach that could mean firing another 8,000 of 263,000 city employees in addition to 21,000 already dropped this year.

The objective of the cuts is to eliminate this year's projected deficit of $800 million by cutting the current budget and later making cuts large enough to generate a $300 million surplus next year and a $200 million surplus the following year.

United Federation of Teachers President Albert Shanker — angered at cuts in school spending and a prospective three-year wage freeze for teachers — got union members controlling the city teachers' retirement system to block commitment of $150 million to be invested in borrowings to aid the city.

That commitment was especially critical because it was needed to trigger the release of another $250 million in state employee pension funds being invested in state borrowings to aid the city.

After a long meeting with Carey, Shanker announced at 2 p.m. — just an hour before the threatened default — that he had changed his mind, in part for fear of layoffs.

Sources said that in return, Carey promised to appoint an independent arbitrator to determine whether a recent teachers' contract settlement violated the control board's budget guidelines. Officially, however, both Carey and Shanker denied this.

Opposing viewpoints on state's fiscal health

CHICAGO (AP) — The State of Illinois may or may not be teetering on the brink of financial ruin, depending on who's doing the talking.

The state Chamber of Commerce released Friday a study indicating the state could face a $300 million deficit by next July if the legislature restores cuts in school aid bills made by Gov. Daniel Walker.

Lester W. Brann Jr., president of the 19,000-member business organization, said the governor has underestimated welfare costs, is overestimating the amount of taxes the state will collect and is failing to reduce on spending.

"The time has come for positive action to cut government spending in Illinois," Brann said.

And Rep. Calvin Skinner Jr., R-Crystal Lake, warned Friday that the state is on the way to a $150 million deficit.

Skinner, a member of the bipartisan Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission, said the deficit could bring about a severe cash crunch next September as the state continues to pay old bills with money meant for the new fiscal year.

UF drive over top

The United Fund has exceeded its $100,000 goal in cash contributions and pledges according to Patrick E. Ward, president of the 1975 campaign.

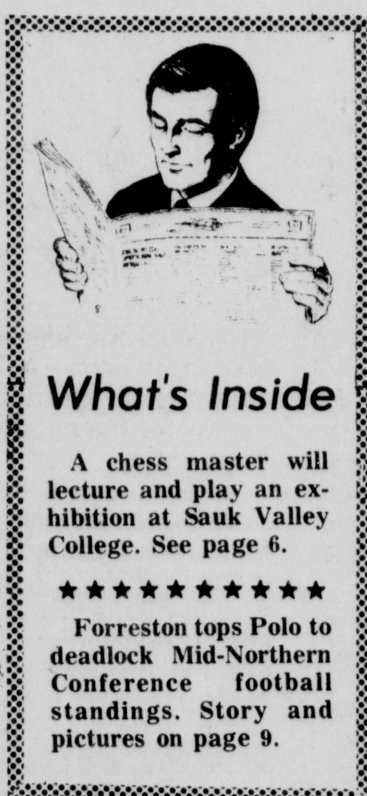

Ward said this makes the seventh straight year the United Fund has exceeded its goal. Proceeds from the drive go to 18 United Fund agencies in the community.

Ward and Richard Langenfeld, campaign chairman, expressed their appreciation to all volunteers who helped make this year's campaign a success.

However, a staff report released to the commission later Friday noted that the state has $56.2 million that could be taken on loan from three state funds. The report added that another $51.6 million could be transferred from earmarked accounts, such as the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home Fund.

There are about 300 such special funds, set up by the legislature to guarantee certain programs will be financed.

Mark Chadwin, commission staff director, admitted that at present spending levels the state could have a deficit in general revenue and common school funds for the first time in recent years.

Kissinger en route to Red China

ELMENDORF AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, en route to Peking, said U.S. relations with the People's Republic of China depend more on the interests of both countries than on the people in power.

Kissinger's comments came Friday at a brief news conference during a one-hour refueling stop in Anchorage.

In response to a question concerning the illnesses of Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai, Kissinger said, "We are all mortal, but the relations between the People's Republic of China and the United States don't depend on personalities — they depend on the basic interests of both countries.

"We would think that the main lines of the policies of both countries would continue regardless of who was in office in either country."

Kissinger added that he believed Prime Minister Chou "is a man of outstanding abilities."

Kissinger said he assumed that because of Chou's and Mao's illnesses, he will meet with Vice Premier Teng Hsia Ping, who seems to be in day-to-day control of China, and that he will continue the policy of better relations with the United States.

Kissinger said he would better be able to estimate what will be achieved by President Ford's planned trip to Peking later this year "after I have concluded my visit there."

"I would not expect that we will achieve full normalization of relations this year, but we can make some progress," said Kissinger. "And of course ... we attach very great significance to our relations with the People's Republic of China, even at the present level of diplomatic contact."

En route to Alaska, a senior American official told reporters there is concern over the leadership situation because of the illnesses of the top two leaders.

But worry is the wrong word, the official said. Kissinger has been dealing with Teng for the past year and a half and has a pretty clear idea of his thinking, the official added.

Kissinger made his comments during a refueling stop here, and his special Air Force jet arrived in Tokyo today.

Kissinger plans an overnight stay in Japan. He is scheduled to meet Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Miyazawa on Sunday before going on to Peking.

Hills revives program

Federal funds to help Americans buy homes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing Secretary Carla Hills is reviving a previously discarded program in which federal funds will be used to help moderate-income Americans buy homes.

Despite the unexpected strength of the nation's general economic recovery, activity in the homebuilding industry will lag behind the general trend, Mrs. Hills said Friday in announcing the resurrection of the Section 235 home ownership program.

But, she said, "I see the gradual recovery continuing." A few hours later, her assessment was confirmed by a Commerce Department report showing that starts on new housing units declined during September by 2.2 per cent to an annual rate of 1.24 million units, while the number of new building permits issued climbed by 8 per cent to the highest level since June 1974.

Since building permits indicate future activity, and since the starts rate was still 6.7 per cent ahead of a year ago, the over-all picture sketched by the statistics was of a continuing but gradual recovery.

"I think it's a kind of a very mixed picture," said Michael Sumichrast, economist for the National Association of Home Builders.

The home ownership program, when started next spring, will allow the use of federal funds to subsidize home purchases by families earning $9,000 to $11,000 a year. Inflation and shortages of new moderately priced homes have nearly shut off families in that income range from buying homes.

Mrs. Hills said the program will allow a family of four living on $10,000 a year to buy a house with a $20,000 mortgage at 9.5 per cent interest and pay only $152 per month.

Criminal in charge

War on the police is always a political war. Someone or group wants to get control of the police so they call it rehabilitation. This group knows the voter cannot be against improvement, so go along. When you find out what the real game is, it usually is too late. The citizens have lost more of their freedom.

These groups in America, or other nations, are of Communist background, while their desire is to socialize the United States.

If you care about yourself and family, you should read "Criminals in Charge" by L. P. McDonald in the Review of the News, October 1975. Rep. McDonald gives the facts. This magazine has a story on Communist Activities in Africa, another one on Henry Kissinger's new appointment of Communists to high public office in your government.

The federal police activities cost $2.6 billion and employed 170,000 persons in the year ending Jun 30, 1975, according to the General Accounting Office. This includes 33 agencies, but did not include the Central Intelligence Agency or the National Security Agency or the Pentagon's intelligence branch.

How much is a free society worth to you? If the United States goes completely socialistic, it will be hard to regain your freedom to live the way you want to. The people you have voted into office are steering the country into socialism, then communism. Do you desire a change? Then back new men or women who say they will only vote for laws that will help to pay off our national debt and stop laws forcing manufacturers to build equipment that costs more.

We seem to feel that money in Washington belongs to no one. It is then wasted by everyone. Whereas, when money you earn is particularly guarded and used cautiously.

It is like free enterprise, if you are in business and sell the best item at reasonable prices so customers will come back to your store, the business is successful. If you do not please your customers they will not come back and the business will be bankrupt.

Ford's Legion speech

By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev must have gotten a big laugh about President Ford's speech to the American Legion in which he warned that, if Brezhnev doesn't hurry up and sign a SALT II arms agreement, the Ford Administration will request a $3 billion increase in spending on strategic nuclear weapons.

We will actually be worse off if we sign a SALT II Agreement than if we don't, because the terms agreed on at Vladivostok set the limits so high on missiles and MIRVs that the Soviets will be authorized to build all the nuclear weapons they need to carry out a first-strike against the United States. We will have no comparable capability because our missiles are only a small fraction as powerful as those of the Soviets.

President Ford's Legion speech chose to ignore the sensational evidence presented by our immediate past Secretary of Defense, Melvin Laird, and by our immediate past Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, that the Soviets are blatantly and deliberately violating the SALT I Agreements. The Soviet violations include deploying SS-19 missiles, increasing missile silo dimensions by 50 per cent instead of the allowed 15 per cent, constructing new missile silos, and testing unauthorized radars.

The Soviets ignore our protests, deny the facts until confronted by proof from our satellite reconnaissance, or claim that whatever they are doing is allowed by loopholes in the SALT I Agreement.

The shift in the strategic balance from the United States to the Soviet Union since Henry Kissinger has been masterminding our policies is so dramatic and so ominous that many people other than Laird and Zumwalt have become alarmed.

A recent report by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy describes how the Soviet Union is overtaking the United States in the quality of its nuclear weapons, in quantity, payload and throw-weight, is developing a first-strike capability so total that it could destroy most of our missiles and deter use of the remaining ones, is conducting "a massive research and development effort" on new nuclear weapons, and is rapidly coming to the point that the Soviets may be able to "maximize their political advantage" (that is, to use nuclear blackmail to impose their will on the world).

The most interesting part about this report is that it was concurred in unanimously by a committee which includes liberal Senators Stuart Symington, Joseph Montoya, John Tunney and Clifford Case, as well as Chairman John Pastore.

Also coming in from the left side is the "Coalition for a Democratic Majority," led by Eugene Rostow and other prominent Democratic liberal intellectuals. They, too, are warning of the hoax of detente and of the threat posed by the growing Soviet military power.

These leaders who are at odds on most political and ideological issues speak with one voice on the overriding issue that must unite us all—the survival of the United States. Their warnings cry out for Congress and the press to start a prompt and full investigation with the same diligence and perseverance expended last year on Watergate. Of all the investigations undertaken by Congress, none could be so important as finding out if our independence and freedom are threatened by Soviet cheating on SALT.

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA)— It's never been a secret that shortly before and all during World War II German authorities entertained notions of establishing a worldwide secret police as a means of annihilating, or at least neutralizing, the enemies of the Third Reich. What has been secret, at least until recently, is the fact the Nazis considered the famed International Criminal Police Organization (cable name: Interpol) as an ally in the terrible scheme.

The truth has remained shrouded over the decades because of private interests and public indifference. Interpol, a private police agency with quasi public offices in 120 nations including America, has never been wont to color its image with candid references to a Nazi past. And the public, fed only on the heroics of these cops of many nations, has never before felt it necessary to suspect Interpol was anything other than its purified propaganda claimed it to be.

Now the particulars of the Interpol legacy are beginning to emerge, and with them growing official nervousness about not only what Interpol was, but is. The suspicions, rooted out by an extensive but obscure investigation by the Church of Scientology, once a target of an Interpol probe itself, have been picked up by several U.S. lawmakers. Joshua Eilberg of Pennsylvania, for one, has announced his own probe into Interpol, an aide saying the congressman is "very, very interested in Interpol's ties to the Nazis."

Interpol shielding fugitive Nazis?

The ties, long minimized by Interpol headquarters in Paris, and more recently by Interpol USA in Washington, are undeniable.

Though the organization was conceived (in 1924) as a nonpolitical, international police liaison entity, it was in the following decade dominated increasingly by German officials. In 1938 a Gestapo colonel named Otto Steinhaus was elevated to Interpol's presidency. In 1940 Interpol adopted a German decree that henceforth "all requests to the Internationale Kriminalpolizei and replies have to pass the Reichskriminalpolizei." In 1942 the Interpol headquarters, now merely a Hitler tool (and with American membership withdrawn), was moved near Berlin.

The list of Interpol leaders from then on through the war reads like a who's who of hate mongers: Reinhard Heydrich (The Hangman), who was killed either by Czechoslovak patriots or perhaps fellow Nazis who felt his influence was growing too large; Arthur Nebe, an SS general and operator of one of the infamous "mobile execution units" who has not been accounted for since the war; Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the fanatical SD and hanged by court verdict after Nuremberg.

But Interpol's Nazi connection, sadly, did not end with the Allied victory in 1945. Even though America had renewed its membership in the network, the organization as late as 1971 was led by a one-time SS officer named Paul Dickopf, and is currently directed by an alleged war-time member of the Nazi-dominated French Surete Nationale.

With all the group's Third Reich flavor, however, it has been damnable reluctant to join the international hunt for runaway Nazi criminals. Thus Congressman Eilberg's principal interest today in Interpol. He is one of many U.S. lawmakers who have questioned why thousands of Nazi thugs are still at large (perhaps as many as 73 in the U.S.). Surely, Eilberg feels, given Interpol's inside data on the Nazi structure, and the probability it has many files on wanted Germans, its assistance would be helpful.

Interpol's assistance along these lines would, however, also be damaging to itself. Opening its files would be opening its past—a past of terror, brutality and woeful associations. It was at the Interpol headquarters outside Berlin, for example, that a German committee in 1942 decided on the Final Solution to the "Jewish problem." The files would reveal more recent indiscretions as well, such as the article in the October, 1967 issue of Interpol's confidential magazine which advocated the sterilization of mentally deficient children.

The past, of course, is not necessary prologue. But Interpol's reluctance to discuss it, indeed its actions to cover it up, is unsettling, even worrisome. Rep. Edward Beard, D-RI, has characterized the fears publicly, and well, by wondering if the Nazi domination of Interpol decades ago affects its philosophies even today.

Perspective on Spain

By DON OAKLEY

The curious double standard the democracies of Europe for some reason are in the habit of employing when it comes to judging the behavior of socialist and non-socialist governments has seldom been as glaringly obvious as it has in the case of Spain of late.

The execution by the Franco government of five convicted terrorists, despite appeals for mercy from everybody from the Ope to prime ministers and presidents, set off a wave of outrage throughout Europe. Diplomats were called home, economic sanctions were threatened.

What barbarism against those whose only crime has been to blow up, shoot and otherwise dispatch more than 50 policemen and civilians in Spain so far this year. The only people outraged by the murders themselves seem to be the Spaniards.

Francisco Franco, of course, is an old fool who either believes the Almighty has suspended the laws of nature on his behalf or is too senile to realize that he is providing history with another example of "after me, the deluge."

Tyrant that he may be, however, for the ordinary Spaniard, life under Franco at his most despotic has been infinitely freer than that of the ordinary Russian under the absolute totalitarianism of the Communist system at its most benevolent.

Yet in their zeal to see Europe rid of its last non-Communist dictatorship, Western leaders are calling for a visitation of chaos upon Spain from which only the Communists will benefit.

As for the United States, it finds itself in somewhat the same awkward position it has been in with regard to Portugal. Leases on U.S. military bases in Spain, which may or may not be vital to Western Europe's defense, have just been renegotiated.

But any expression of support by Washington for the Franco government, whether in the interests of our own global security or purely out of concern at the prospect of another people going down the Communist tube, would immediately bring down the wrath of our home-grown humanitarians.

Fortunately, the Portuguese so far have demonstrated a tenacious determination to win the kind of political freedom they have never really known. Thus one can still hope that when Spain's time of transition comes, and it is coming soon, the Spanish will also know what is best for themselves despite the "help" of their friends in the democracies.

"You're sure there are no strings attached?"

Things Dixon Talked About

25 YEARS AGO

Members of the Dixon Jay-C-Ettes recently held a dinner-meeting at the Landmark. A woman who made the Holy Year Pilgrimage to Rome and had an audition with the Pope was the guest speaker. She showed slides and told of the experience of her travels through Europe.

Halloween tricks are becoming dangerous around Dixon. A group of youngsters demanded "tricks or treats" from a person's home, were flushed from the home when the owner fired a shotgun into the air to scare the children away.

50 YEARS AGO

The Veterans of Foreign Wars state conference and meeting of the Councils of Administration of the Vets and Ladies Auxiliaries of the Department of Illinois, which was originally scheduled for Sterling, has been transferred to Dixon and will be held on Saturday and Sunday. All posts of the state and auxiliaries are to be represented at this gathering.

Dixon's first "stop" and "go" traffic light, several of which are to be installed experimentally, will be put into operation this evening at the intersection of Third Street and Peoria Avenue, and motorists are warned to approach the corner cautiously and to observe the light.

Right time, place for Rumsfeld

WASHINGTON (LENS)— By temperament and habit Donald Rumsfeld, the coordinator of President Ford's White House, is well suited to exemplify the "candor" that Ford has adopted as the hallmark of his style of government. Warm in manner, easy in expression, brisk, approachable, Rumsfeld has a style distinct from that of his immediate predecessors.

He is also a politician whose accumulated experience is large for his age, 43, and whose future prospects can reasonably be thought bright.

Rumsfeld served 6½ years as Republican congressman from the northern suburbs of Chicago. Then he became assistant and counselor to President Nixon, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity and of the Cost of Living Council, and finally ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, where he was when Gerald Ford took over the presidency in August of last year.

Ford immediately asked Rumsfeld back to Washington to lead his transition team. That done, Rumsfeld returned to Brussels. But by October, he was back in Washington in a more permanent way, having "very reluctantly" accepted the post of assistant to the president, this time to take charge of the White House staff.

A history student from Chicago, Rumsfeld was graduated from Princeton and became a naval aviator. After a while he decided against a military career and in 1957 became administrative assistant to Congressman David Dennis (R-Ohio), and then joined the staff of Congressman Robert Griffin (now Republican whip in the Senate).

In 1960 he went back to Chicago and into business. As he recalls, Congressman Peter Frelinghuysen of New Jersey advised it, pointing out that people who counted in Washington were there because they represented somebody or something: "He advised me to come back when I found myself in that position." And so he did, when the first opportunity presented itself to fight for the Republican nomination and win the congressional election from the 13th District of Illinois.

While he describes himself as "conservative essentially," his record does not altogether fit that of the conservative politician. He voted for the Civil Rights Act in 1964. He was active in congressional reform. He supported the idea of an all-volunteer army before it became generally accepted. He advocated greater access for the public to government information.

Still, it was a conservative outlook combined with political pragmatism that brought him to the fore in the first Nixon Administration. He was in his fourth term in Congress and his district was considered safe. But his involvement in an unsuccessful move to displace Les Arends as minority whip and in another, successful, one against Charles Halleck as minority leader won him enough resentment from the Republican old guard in the House to block his advancement there. He was ready to leave Congress by 1969.

He agreed to give up his seat when President Nixon offered him, in addition to the job of running the Office of Economic Opportunity, an appointment as assistant to the president, cabinet rank, and membership of the Domestic Council.

The Office of Economic Opportunity, the poverty agency, came under fire from Nixon's White House, and Rumsfeld also drew criticism from the defenders of the poverty program when he sacked Terry Lenzner, the national director of the agency's legal services, in a manner that suggested political pressure from Nixon's private circle. His defense was that running the agency was a matter of "management, not politics."

As the pressure of politics grew, he withdrew to his other functions in his White House post. In 1971 Nixon, who had suddenly adopted an incomes policy, made him director of the Cost of Living Council, where he decidedly had to keep clear of politics and devote himself to management.

The job kept him at a distance from the 1972 re-election campaign, and that may have been an advantage. In the reorganization of the Nixon Administration that followed the election he was released from bondage and appointed ambassador to NATO, and so when the Watergate events began to unfold he was away in Brussels. He came back to serve a new president.

Ford first noticed Rumsfeld in 1963, when, as a freshman congressman, he helped Ford to win a place on the House Republican conference committee. Rumsfeld supported Ford again in 1965 to unseat Halleck as Republican leader in the House.

Nearly 10 years later, Ford was unexpectedly president. He needed somebody to establish an orderly decision process in the White House, which President Nixon's chain-of-command was not.

Rumsfeld is usually credited with great shrewdness in making his career choices. He gives the credit to chance. "There has been no grand design," he says, and he describes his future as "a great blur." He still thinks he wants "to get out of this business," meaning the White House.

There is no sign that any such thing is imminent, though some rumors would have him, for instance, replacing James Schlesinger at the Defense Department or, even less probably, aspiring to the vice presidency. Ford had mentioned the possibility of nominating Rumsfeld for the vice presidency last year before Nelson Rockefeller was confirmed. But it seems unlikely that he would now seek that office from his present staff position in the White House.

He has by no means ruled out returning to the search for elective office. The first step back would have to be to re-establish himself in his home state, Illinois; he could seek the governorship there in 1976, or the Senate seat now held by Sen. Adlai Stevenson in 1980.

Assuming that, as it appears, he is not going to leave the White House this year, the governorship is an unlikely option. If he chooses a contest for the Senate seat in 1980, that allows him time to get out of government for a period and return to Chicago, to provoke life and to his political roots before making the next attempt. He will then be 48, as will Senator Edward Kennedy, and doubtless ambitious for higher things.

People in the news

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller says he would shun his Democratic nephew and support the incumbent Republican governor if the Republican can run again.

After touring the Capitol on Thursday with Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., Rockefeller was asked about his political relations with his nephew, John D. "Jay" Rockefeller IV, who has announced his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic nomination for governor.

Moore has indicated might run again next year if he can overcome a constitutional obstacle barring a third term.

Asked if he would support Moore if he does run, the vice president replied, "That's right."

PARIS (AP) — A new work by Nobel-prize winning Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn titled "Lenin in Zurich" has been published in Russian by the YMCA Press.

The book, published Thursday, was described as a historical novel about Vladimir Lenin's last years in exile before he returned to Russia to lead the Bolshevik revolution.

A spokesman at Editions du Seuil, which will publish the French version of the book, said the new work includes a chapter about Lenin originally planned for Solzhenitsyn's novel "August 1914."

The publishers said sections of "Lenin in Zurich" will be also be incorporated in later volumes of the "August 1914" cycle, which will deal with the 1917 Revolution.

Solzhenitsyn has lived in Zurich since his exile from Russia in 1973 and has done extensive research at the Lenin museum there.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Country music star Charlie Rich, 43, is being sued for divorce by his wife of 24 years, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Margaret Ann Greene Rich, 42, filed a divorce petition in Circuit Court here asking for alimony and child support and custody of the couple's minor son, Jack Michael Rich, 8.

Rich was reported by a spokesman for Charlie Rich Enterprises on Thursday to be in Baptist Hospital for treatment of an infected foot.

Rich has canceled singing engagements for the next two weeks, possibly for the rest of the year, said Sy Rosenberg, his manager.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Italian Communist party chief Enrico Berlinguer has emerged in a nationwide survey as Italy's most trusted politician, and his party as the one that has done the most for civil rights.

The findings were in a public opinion poll taken by the Demoskopiea Institute among a representative sample of 1,000 Italians of diverse educational and social conditions.

Berlinguer got 48.8 per cent of the popularity vote, and his party got 63.1 per cent of the vote on civil rights.

Premier Aldo Moro followed with 39.9 per cent.

Ben Franklin said "an honest man will receive neither money nor praise nor his due."

Thought for today

Thus says the Lord, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts: "I am the first and I am the last; besides me there is no god." — Isaiah 44:6.

God, veiled in majesty, alone gives light and life to all; bids the great systems move, and changing seasons — William Somerville. English poet.

The Doctor Says:

Triglycerides are transporters of cholesterol

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband recently learned he has too many triglycerides in his blood. His count was 316.

We can't find much information on triglycerides and wondered if you could help us. What is the difference between triglycerides and cholesterol, since they are both fatty substances? Also, where could we get more information concerning triglycerides? He is on a no sugar, no starch, and no fried foods diet.

DEAR READER — I get that question often. No wonder since heart and vascular disease is the most common serious disease we have in our culture.

Cholesterol is a waxy substance from the bile. It is not really a fat. It has a yellowish mushy consistency. It is transported with fat (triglycerides) into the artery wall. A greater amount of cholesterol than fat remains in the wall and causes the cholesterol deposits that cause heart and vascular disease in man.

Triglycerides are simply fats. The fat you eat is usually made up of fatty acids connected to glycerol (glycerine). Three fatty acids connected to glycerol is a triglyceride. That is what you find in animal fat and most vegetable fats. Look on the food labels now appearing and you will see the terms monoglyceride, diglyceride and triglyceride. That means one, two or three fatty acids attached to the glycerine. It is all fat, and that is what you want to know.

The fatty acids can be saturated fat or unsaturated fat. The cholesterol, fat (triglycerides), and a blood protein combine to form a soluble substance in the bloodstream called a lipoprotein.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing about my son. He has erythropoietic protoporphyria. It was not diagnosed accurately until he joined the Marines when he was 18. He was medically discharged after 40 days of hospital examinations and is now going to school at the university.

I understand this is a metabolic disease and part of the problem is an allergy to the sun. I am wondering if anything in the nature of a diet could improve the condition.

Life without the sun is not an easy adjustment, and I'm wondering if he should have some type of vitamin supplement.

DEAR READER — Yes, that is a rare disease all right. It was only described a short time ago. It belongs to a group of disorders involving pigment formation in the body. The pigment in the type of disorder your son has is caused by excessive pigment formation by the liver and a small amount from the formation of red cells.

The form he has causes what might at first appear as an itense, sudden reaction to the sun, with reddening and swelling of the exposed areas. Prolonged exposure can lead to an eczema-like appearance which gradually heals and may even leave scarring.

I am happy to tell you that this form of porphyria usually doesn't cause any serious disability nor affect the outlook for life expectancy. So, your son should live a healthy, normal life — except if he wants to protect his skin he will have to avoid the sun.

I am less happy to tell you that this is the only treatment other than symptomatic measures when sun exposure causes problems. There are no special diets nor any benefits from supplements or extra vitamins. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, Oct. 18, the 291st day of 1975. There are 74 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1867, the United States took formal possession of Alaska from Russia.

On this date: In 1540, the Spanish explorer, Hernando de Soto, was fighting Indians in southern Alabama. In 1767, the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania — the Mason-Dixon line — was agreed upon.

In 1892, the first commercial long-distance telephone service began, between New York and Chicago.

In 1898, the American flag was raised over Puerto Rico shortly before the island was ceded to the United States by Spain.

In 1944, in World War II, Soviet troops invaded Czechoslovakia.

In 1971, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin was attacked by a demonstrator on the Canadian parliament grounds in Ottawa but was unhurt.

Ten years ago: Agents of the FBI arrested a pacifist in Manchester, N.H. on charges of destroying his draft card. It was the first such arrest under a new law.

Five years ago: The Canadian parliament met in special session to discuss the terrorist slaying of a Quebec official, Pierre Laporte.

One year ago: The Soviet Union and Egypt agreed to support establishment of a Palestinian state.

Real estate courses to start at SVC

Two courses, which may be used to partially fulfill the requirements to sit for the Real Estate Brokers' examination in Illinois, will be taught at Sauk Valley College for an eight-week period. Each course will begin during the next week according to Ron Hartje, chairman of the department of business at SVC.

Both classes carry one semester hour of credits and require 16 hours of classroom work for completion. Both qualify for use in meeting Illinois requirement of 90 hours of study needed before a person may take the state examination for licensure as a real estate broker.

"Real Estate Appraisals" (BUS 244) will be taught from 7-9 p.m. by Mick Kazmerski beginning on Thursday, in Room 2G3 at SVC. Course content will include an introduction to appraising, the nature of real property, the appraisal processing as well as economic trends and how to apply to various types of appraisal.

A class in "Real Estate Financing" (BUS 245) will be taught by Frank Baracani. It will also meet in Room 2G3 and the first class session will be held on Tuesday, from 7-9 p.m. Topics to be covered in this class include: Types of financing, mortgage debt analysis, sources of financing, types of mortgages, mortgage essentials, deed analysis, and closing a mortgage.

Hartje said that in addition to helping meet the requirements for the state examination, these SVC classes are also a part of the college's comprehensive Real Estate Certificate Program. Interested persons may register for these courses in the Office of the Registrar or at the first class session.

CALVIN W. SCHUNEMAN

Rotarians to hear Schuneman

State Rep. Calvin W. Schuneman, 37th District Republican, will be the guest speaker at Monday's Rotary Club luncheon meeting at the Nachusa House.

Schuneman was born and reared in Manlius, Bureau County. He was educated in the schools at Manlius and attended Bradley University.

For more than 25 years he has been engaged in the general insurance agency business in Prophetstown where he is the owner of the Schuneman Agency. He has been active in many insurance organizations, including the Quad-City chapter of C.P.C.U.

He has been active in civic and community affairs and the United Methodist Church. He is a past president of Prophets-town Boosters and the Prophetstown Lions Club.

Schuneman is currently serving his first term in the Illinois General Assembly, having been elected to that office in November, 1974.

Theft charge against woman

Mary Cavazos, 32, Rt. 1, Dixon, was arrested Friday by Dixon Police and charged with theft under $150.

Cavazos was arrested on a complaint signed by Gary Goodell, manager of Gibson's Discount Center. The complaint accuses the woman of allegedly taking several items and leaving the store without paying for them. She has posted bond and is scheduled to appear in court at a later date.

County may bid on GROF property

Lee County may submit a bid of property to be offered for sale in GROF, according to Merle Topper, a member of the Road and Bridge Committee.

The property consists of 15 acres and three buildings. It was last used by the government as a portable hospital supply depot.

The Government Services Administration announces bids for the property will be opened in Chicago on Dec. 2.

Topper said the committee has investigated the property for use by the county highway department.

The offer by the GSA includes more buildings and land than the county is interested in.

Topper gave his report at the Tuesday meeting of the Lee County Board.

Pays $150 fine

Michael Taylor, 21, Grand Detour, was fined $150 Friday after he pleaded guilty to driving with a revoked license. Taylor, who appeared before Associate Judge Martin D. Hill, was arrested by state police on Sept. 15.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank Dr. Howard Edwards, nurses, Rev. Rodd and friends for their kindness to me during my stay in the hospital.

Bess Stewart

We wish to thank everyone for prayers and sympathy during the loss of our husband and brother; to the emergency squad and police, emergency room, Dr. E. S. Murphy and doctors and nurses and for all the letters, cards and beautiful flowers.

Tractor and train collide

This tractor, driven by John Phelps, 34, rural Amboy, collided with an Illinois Central-Gulf freight train at the intersection of Josiah Ave. and Wasson Road at the north edge of Amboy at about 2:20 p.m. Friday. The tractor was pulling two wagons loaded with shelled corn. The driver was not injured and the corn was not spilled. The tractor, which was struck on the right front, sustained major damage. The train engineer, Philip Barrara, Freeport, said the train suffered about $500 damage. The train was traveling south and was delayed about an hour. State police investigated and Phelps was ticketed for failure to yield. (Telegraph Photo)

SVC courses offered in Dixon

Eighteen of the 119 courses offered this fall semester through the Sauk Valley College community services program are being taught in Dixon.

James Barber, assistant dean for adult and continuing education at SVC, said community service classes are being taught in 10 communities for the convenience of area residents. A class schedule listing all community service courses was mailed to every household in the college district last week.

The classes being offered in Dixon are listed below:

GSF 010 Consumer Education (Personal Money Management)—The course will cover finding out where your money comes from and where it goes, budgeting, stopping money leaks, getting the most for your money, using credit wisely, minimizing taxes, and building savings. Practical methods for handling everyday personal financial affairs. General Studies Credit: 1. Instructor: Dr. R. Metzger. Thursdays 7-9 p.m., for eight weeks starting Oct. 23.

GSF 030 Home Repairs (Beginner)—Headaches such as dripping faucets, broken windows, sluggish drains, repair and replacement of appliance cords and other small repairs need not stump you. Class discussions will familiarize you with basic tools and their uses. Fastenings such as glue, nails, bolts, and screws; soldering of metal; finishing, including the use of paints, varnishes, shellacs, stains, and brushes; the laying of floors and wall tile; and roof gutter repairs can be safely handled by the home repair person. Students will have an opportunity to work together on projects in their own homes with instructor guidance and class assistance. General Studies Credit: 1. Instructor: Ebert. Tuesday 7-9 p.m., for eight weeks starting Oct. 21. Cost $15. DHS Room 121.

GSF 035 Auto Maintenance for Women (Powder Puff Mechanics)—Designed to familiarize the student with the various systems of the car. Each student will have an opportunity to work on her own car if she chooses, and will be given instruction on how to perform a tune-up, general maintenance, and solve simple electrical problems. General Studies Credit: 1. Instructor: Quick. Tuesday 7-9 p.m., for eight weeks starting Oct. 21. Cost $15. DHS Auto Shop.

GSF 023 Bible History I—A course designed to assist students in analyzing specific aspects of the Old Testament. A review of various interpretations are presented and analyzed from an ecumenical approach. Discussion is encouraged with alternate viewpoints being reviewed and incorporated. Various portions of the Old Testament will be chosen by class members for critique and analysis. General Studies Credit: 1. Instructor: Frey. Wednesday 7-9 p.m., for eight weeks starting Oct. 22. Cost $15. DHS Room 126.

GSF 050 Reading and Study Skills—This course is specifically designed to provide special training for senior citizens who desire to continue their intellectual involvement in the world about them. Specific attention is devoted to current events on both local and national levels. A thematic approach is employed to enhance individual skills and understanding as students investigate topics including: weather, energy and its implications, local history, travel and recent political activities affecting all. A multimedia approach is employed to assure understanding and assist persons with visual or hearing difficulties. The course is open to the public; however, senior citizens may take advantage of the Golden Age Tuition Pass and register for the $1 tuition fee. Otherwise, tuition is $15 for one credit hour. The instructor in all four sections will be Dodd and late registration is permitted and encouraged. Locations are: Orchard Glen Nursing Home, Thursday 2-3 p.m., 15 weeks, started Sept. 11. Watkins-Blaine exchange vows

Miss Lynda Watkins and Jim Blaine exchanged nuptial vows in a recent afternoon ceremony at St. Anne's Catholic Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Watkins, Walnut. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles, Blaine, Ohio.

The Rev. Donald Ahles performed the double-ring nuptial service while Mrs. Jane Mills, organist, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Joan Egan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white nylon over taffeta designed with a high neckline, an empire bodice with lace and a sheer semi-circular yoke outlined with Venice lace and ruffles. Her full circular skirt extended into a lace chapel-length train. A Camelot headpiece held an illusion elbow-length veil trimmed with Venice lace. She carried a cluster bouquet of light blue Marguerite daisies, white Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Miss Paula Fairbanks, Princeton, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Barb Blaine, sister of the groom; Miss Jeanne Watkins, sister of the bride, and Miss Chris Watkins, cousin of the bride. They were attired in gowns of blue dotted voile over taffeta accented with Venice lace and designed with spaghetti straps and a full gathered skirt. A bolero jacket with bishop sleeves completed the outfits. They wore white picture hats trimmed with blue ribbon and carried white wicker baskets with arrangements of yellow Marguerite daisies, peach and light blue Elegance carnations, baby's breath and leather leaf fern.

Miss Jennifer Sue Hill, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of light blue dotted Swiss designed with cap sleeves and daisy trim. She wore a crescent headpiece of yellow Marguerite daisies, peach and light blue Elegance carnations and baby's breath, and carried a white wicker basket with the same flower arrangement as the bridesmaids.

Ralph Cassidy, Ohio, was best man. Denny Theriault, brother-in-law of the groom; Charlie Thomas, and Steve Blaine, brother of the groom, served as groomsmen. Bill and Dave Watkins, brothers of the bride, seated the guests.

A reception was held at the Emerald Hill Country Club with Mr. and Mrs. Don Watkins acting as hosts. Mrs. Herbert Christensen Jr. and Mrs. Gary Christensen served coffee and punch while Mrs. Keith Hill and Mrs. Denny Theriault cut the wedding cake. Presiding at the gift table were Miss Sandy Pistole, Misses Jeanne, Nancy and Bonnie Johnson, and Misses Sue and Kathy Johnson. Miss Cathy Blaine, sister of the groom, registered guests. Ron Eckberg provided music during the reception.

Since their honeymoon to Missouri, the new Mr. and Mrs. Blaine have been residing at 506 E. Bradshaw St. Dixon.

Mrs. Blaine is a graduate of Walnut High School and is presently employed by the Dixon National Bank. Mr. Blaine is a graduate of Ohio High School and is employed by the Central Telephone Company, Dixon.

Guess who's discovered

The large size woman arrives

By ELLIE Grossman
NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Maude" is independent, outspoken and dauntless. If the TV image is accurate, she's also a large size woman and, as such she represents one-sixth of America's female population.

It's a goodly number of women who, until recently, had little to choose from in clothes. And what there was was functional rather than flattering. "But no matter what age or income bracket group the large woman falls into, she wants to look pretty, like every other woman," says Marvin Rosen, sales manager of Lady Russ, a New York sportswear house specializing in large sizes.

Now she can, and still cope with her particular figure problems. She's a tall, generally well-proportioned woman. And though she also may be buxom, her "heaviest area is roughly 17 inches down from under the arm," explains Laura Ferraro, eastern regional sales manager of Mr. Alex, a California-based firm.

"In other words, her hips are full. To camouflage that, tops are cut long and extend below the hip line. If we put pockets in the hip area of a vest or a jacket, we'll use other detailing closer to the shoulder to catch the eye and deemphasize them."

"Most of our jackets and shirts, which are worn outside the pant or skirt, are done in a princess line for a slenderizing effect," she says. And many have side slits for added mobility.

To satisfy the large woman's desire for a contemporary look, designers adapt "missy" or 8-16 size concepts to her needs. A roll-sleeve jacket in a "big top," say, with raglan sleeves.

BLAZER SUIT proves flattering to woman who wants to be stylish but has a full figure. Blazer is simply styled to button over pull-on pants or a skirt for a suit look. Designed in easy-care polyester.

Or a mock-fly front on a pair of slacks which pull on and are made of knit polyester for give and stretch.

Actually, the pull-on waist on skirts and pants is standard for the big woman. Anything that constricts the waist is avoided, but there's always room for deception.

"You never used to see a belt in a large woman's department," Marvin Rosen says, "but now you can have a self-belt that covers an elasticized waist."

Blazers are cut full, without back darts, and vests are always long, never the weskit that cuts the figure midway.

Dummy reversal brings in 12

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Frank Thomas goes through a long rigamarole in order to describe how Holmes and Watson bid to six spades.

The bidding in the box shows how they might have reached it if they were using the jump raise as almost, but not quite, forcing.

Holmes counted 12 easy tricks provided clubs broke 3-3. He decided to use a dummy reversal to give him twelve against a 4-2 club break.

At trick two he ruffed a heart. Then he cashed his ace of spades, led a spade to dummy's jack, ruffed another heart, entered dummy with a high club, ruffed dummy's last heart with his last trump, entered dummy with the other club honor, drew East's last trump with dummy's queen while discarding his six of diamonds and would have made seven if clubs had broken evenly.

This play would have failed if East had started with one less heart and one more diamond since he would have been able to discard a club on the lead of the last heart.

If you want to have some fun you can find two other ways to make the contract. Neither suffers from the disadvantages mentioned before but each has certain weaknesses so that we have no quarrel with Holmes' play. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Bridal shower

OHIO — Friends gathered for a bridal shower honoring Mrs. Shirlee Thomas Kane recently in the Immaculate Conception Church Hall.

The decorations were in colors of orchid and white. The new bride was assisted at the gift table by her sisters, Mrs. Marge Christiansen and Kathleen Thomas. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas poured.

Party hostesses were Mrs. Lyle Forristall, Mrs. K. F. Gorman, Mrs. Dave McDonald, Mrs. Harry Chase, Mrs. Ed Anderson, Mrs. Althea Krapff.

CHANGES NEEDED

As a woman grows older she needs to take an objective look at her makeup. For example, a mature woman should use bright and clear lipstick colors. Whiteners tend to crease and emphasize lip wrinkles.

Plastic bags ok for onion peelers but not for kids

Dear Ann Landers: How COULD you, even in the name of humor, print the suggestion that a cook put a plastic bag over his head while peeling onions in order to avoid the fumes? Some unthinking reader is sure to try this suggestion and suffocate! I urge you to warn your readers against the use of plastic bags in such a manner, and especially to keep those things out of the reach of children! — Deeply Disappointed

Dear Dis: I was dumbfounded at the number of letters (and phone calls!) I received from readers who were upset by the suggestion that the onion peeler put a plastic bag over his head to avoid teary eyes and a running nose.

There is no way an adult can suffocate if he is in his right mind and sober.

As for keeping plastic bags out of the reach of children — now THAT makes some sense. Dear Ann Landers: What can be done to protect yourself against a vicious relative? My husband's older brother has tried to dominate our lives as well as the lives of his other brothers and their families from the moment we married into the family.

There were five boys and each of the wives has had to fight to save her marriage from this eldest brother's venomous attacks. He writes letters to his younger brothers at work and tells them what their wives have been doing that he thinks is wrong. He then suggests "proper punishment."

It doesn't stop there. He writes lengthy reports on what he hears about their children and doesn't hesitate to outline what should be done about their "terrible behavior." In the meantime his own kids have been in trouble with the police and his frightened mouse of a wife is a candidate for a mental hospital.

Please come out swinging. We need your help. — Beat Down

Dear B.D.: No man or beast could become that powerful unless someone gave him the authority. The Gestapo routine should have been scotched the minute Big Brother began to stick his nose into your business.

It's up to you women to let your husbands know you will no longer tolerate the bully's interference. If you haven't the guts to do it you'll just have to suffer.

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I wore a plum-colored outfit to the office. A woman I work with complimented me on the ensemble and said she has a suede bag exactly the same color which she had worn only a few times. "I'd love to you to have it," she said. "I'll bring it tomorrow."

Today she brought the bag and it was a perfect match. When I thanked her she said, "I didn't mean it as a gift. I had in mind selling it to you at cost. The price is $40."

I almost fell through the floor. I told her I couldn't afford it and thanked her anyway.

In all my life I have never sold an article of used clothing to a friend. Now I feel our relationship has been hurt. Am I naive? Am I stupid? Was she crass? I need your opinion. — Plum-Faced

Dear P.F.: Selling used clothing to friends, generally speaking, is not a good idea. The woman should have made it clear from the outset that she intended to sell you the bag. Forget the incident and hopefully she will, too. (Copyright 1975, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Attention! Prospective brides

Because of misunderstanding on wedding pictures, The Telegraph is asking prospective brides to arrange for good black-and-white wedding pictures for use with wedding stories.

Color photographs and black-and-white prints off a color negative are unsatisfactory for good newspaper reproduction.

Rather than be disappointed by having a picture rejected by the newspaper, we are advising brides to insist on a black-and-white picture shot with black-and-white film.

Dixon loses homecoming 49-0

Cavaliers bury the Dukes

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor

The LaSalle-Peru Cavaliers were anything but gallant visitors at A.C. Bowers Field Friday night in an NCIC football game versus the Dixon Dukes. The Cavaliers did not come to praise the Dukes but to bury them and with Dixon constantly digging itself in the hole via mistakes, LaSalle-Peru entombed the Purple-and-White 49-0.

It was a game with statistics slanted towards the Cavaliers as much as the score. The win wraps up a certain share of the NCIC title for LaSalle-Peru as the Cavaliers now boast a 4-0 conference ledger with only Streator barring the way to an outright championship.

Falls to 1-6

Dixon falls to 1-3 in NCIC action and 1-6 overall. The Cavaliers are a mirror image in season play with a 6-1 slate. The Dukes made the victory easier by turning over two fumbles, five passes which were intercepted plus a trio of punts which failed for various reasons.

The 10 mistakes were capitalized on by LaSalle-Peru in posting its fourth consecutive NCIC blank job. The Cavaliers have now tallied 161 conference points while allowing none.

Senior fullback Ed Merriman paced LaSalle-Peru with 91 rushing yards in 14 carries including three touchdowns jaunts. Merriman has now racked up 936 yards for the campaign in 151 attempts.

Bruising Fullback

The bruising fullback upped his touchdown total to 13 and had a fourth score called back. Dixon also had a touchdown whistled dead by the officials — a 47-yard jaunt by Mike LeBlanc on a fake punt in the fourth quarter — when the game was everything but officially over.

LaSalle-Peru tallied in every stanza with 38 points in the middle two frames. Bill Pearson opened the scoring with a four-yard aerial from Scott Piecha with :04 showing in the first quarter.

The touchdown pass capped a 13-play, 57-yard drive by the visitors. Keith Harvey added the two-point conversion run. Earlier in the frame, L-P's Leo Brown fell on a Dixon fumble while the Dukes' Doug Devine picked off a Piecha pass after the aerial was tipped by Roger Kelly.

Devine Outstanding

Devine was outstanding the first three times L-P handled the ball as the senior linebacker accumulated five tackles and three assists on the opening dozen plays.

The Dukes turned the ball over again on the series after the Cavaliers scored as Vince Melendrez was rammed by Jeff Senica on a punt attempt. Melendrez did not get the boot away and LaSalle-Peru took over possession on the Dixon 23.

A Merriman fumble on the first play gave the ball back to the Dukes as Dean Harding dropped on the bobble. Mike Swinton, in his first start as a varsity quarterback, underthrew Melendrez and had the ball picked off by Jim Bray.

Piecha to Pearson

After an incompletion, Piecha connected with Pearson for a 24-yard gain but the Cavaliers' receiver coughed up the ball when stung by Devine. Jeff Webb made the recovery for Dixon. The Dukes could not budge and were forced to punt.

A bad snap enabled Senica and Dan Johnson to drop Melendrez on the Dixon one. Merriman punched it over on the first play and L-P upped its margin to 14-0. Piecha added the conversion run on a keeper.

An interception by Marty Reardon enabled the Cavaliers to regain possession but on their first play, Dixon's Dan Kopacz slammed into an intended pass receiver with Devine grabbing the ball and returning it nine yards.

Melendrez Grab

Swinton hit Melendrez with a 14-yard strike but Senica and John Cullinan swarmed the sophomore quarterback for a loss of six on the next play. Melendrez was forced to kick and the Cavaliers assumed control on their own 29 with :59 remaining.

LaSalle-Peru put six more points on the board before time expired as Harvey rushed for six yards (Kopacz and Devine the stop) before grabbing a nine-yard pass. Piecha then spiraled a 33-yard gainer to Paul Innis to move the ball to the Dixon 23.

A screen pass failed to connect but Pearson pulled in a 10-yarder on the next play. Pearson came right back by hauling in a diving reception for 14 yards and six points with :04 to go. Dixon had a net of 21 yards at half while Piecha had connected via 109 passing alone.

Three More Times

The Cavaliers crossed the goal line three times in the third quarter as Merriman bolted across from the 14 and then tackled on the conversion run after Melendrez was once again given a poor snap on a punt attempt and forced to run.

Merriman made it 36-0 on a 29-yard scamper leaving four Dukes in his wake with 4:19 remaining. A 19-yard pass interception return by Kevin Berry made it 44-0 before Piecha chalked up the conversion dash. The interception came on a Mike Ramage throwing attempt.

Merriman then apparently upped the count to 51-0 with a 14-yard smash to begin the fourth quarter after a Ramage toss was gathered in by L-P Greg Sarver. However, an illegal procedure penalty negated the Merriam run. The Cavaliers settled for a 27-yard field goal by Ron Marini.

Lined Up to Punt

Dixon lined up to punt midway through the frame. LeBlanc, now wearing uniform 60 instead of his usual 20, took the snap and bolted around left end and utilized a key block by Ramage on the final defender to spurt into the end zone. The 47-yard romp was in turn wiped out by a penalty.

LaSalle-Peru ended with 259 yards to 49 by the Dukes. Piecha was seven of 14 passing for 109 yards. The Purple-and-White ended with a net of three yards rushing plus 46 passing. Swinton was three of 13 for 23 yards while Ramage was one of four for 13.

Venier Has One

Pat Venier got in late to complete one of five for 11 yards and Mike McDonald completed his only halfback option pass of the night for a loss of one. Devine, already awarded Hitter of the Week three times, made a strong boost for his fourth nomination with 11 tackles, six assists, one fumbles caused and two interceptions.

The Dukes now travel to Kewanee next Friday to battle the Boilermakers.

LaSalle-Peru also grabbed the sophomore game by an identical margin of 49 points. The final tally was 55-6 after a 28-0 halftime bulge by the visitors. Jeff Fane scored the only Dukelets touchdown on a three-yard run with :06 to go in the third quarter.

Aces win 12-6

in overtime game

ORANGEVILLE — Eric Grover plunged one yard for a touchdown on the final Ashton play in overtime to present the Aces with a 12-6 victory over the Orangeville Broncos, here, Friday night in an Upstate Illini football contest.

The win is the first conference victory posted by the Aces after five successive losses and boosts Ashton's overall record to 2-5. Orangeville drops out of a second-place tie with Leaf River in the Upstate Illini standings with the loss. The Broncos are now 4-2 in conference games and 4-3 for the season.

With the score deadlocked 6-6 at the end of regulation time, Orangeville got the ball for four plays to begin the overtime session. The Aces defense tossed the Broncos back 30 yards in the ensuing quartet of plays.

Ashton took over on the Orangeville 10 in its turn and drove in for the decisive touchdown. Grover got five yards, quarterback Rod Bunker gained one and Mike Pfeiffer added three more to set up Grover's winning smash.

Pfeiffer tallied the first Aces touchdown in the opening quarter on a 30-yard scamper while Orangeville earned the tie with a five-yard pass from Kurt Lueck to Darwin Morhardt with 8:03 remaining in regulation time.

Pfeiffer ended with 137 yards rushing in 23 carries to pace the Aces including a loss of a dozen markers on an attempted punt. Bunker recovered a pair of fumbles for Ashton, while Andy McCannon also dropped on a loose ball. Marc Heinhorst chipped in with an interception.

Ashton now returns home to face Mt. Carroll next Saturday in another Upstate Illini contest.

Oregon falls 34-12

WINNEBAGO — Tim Swanson tallied three touchdowns on runs of two, four and 17 yards, here, Friday night to help the Winnebago Indians beat the Oregon Hawks 34-12 in a Mid-Northern Conference football contest.

The game makes both teams even at 3-2-1 in Mid-Northern action. Winnebago is 4-2-1 for the season while Oregon is 3-3-1. Swanson tallied from the four- and two-yard lines to open the scoring in the second quarter.

Mike Kump bolted across from the three to put the first Hawks' points on the board. In the third quarter Swanson scored from the 17, to up the Winnebago advantage to 18-6. Richard Brocker made it 20-6 with the grab of a two-point conversion pass.

Dale Johnson brought the Hawks back within a touchdown with a two-yard smash early in the final period but Winnebago wrapped it up as Craig Kletzien caught a 47-yard pass from Bruce Daub for a touchdown. Daub later added a four-yard run for six points. Brocker also added a conversion pass reception.

Oregon now returns home to face Mid-Northern Conference co-leader Polo next Friday.

Ground attack keys Amboy win

AMBOY — Craig Walter gained 101 yards while Louie Leffelman added 102 markers to pace an Amboy rushing attack that produced 234 yards, here, Friday night as the Clippers defeated the Erie Cardinals 20-6 in a Three Rivers football game.

Walter carried 19 times while Leffelman got the call on 21 occasions. Amboy grabbed a 7-0 lead in the first quarter as John Klausen tallied from nine yards out and Greg Esgar toed the conversion point.

Walter made it 13-0 in the third frame on a 14-yard scamper with Esgar again booting the point. Erie then rallied to get its only score as Pat Dillon found paydirt from the 14. Amboy added the final touchdown as Klausen fired a nine-yard aerial to junior end Joe Bothe.

It was the fifth completion of the night for Klausen with the other four passes being snagged by Scott Stephenitch for a net of 91 yards. Kalvin Meyer carried 22 times for 104 yards to lead the Erie rushers. Amboy, now 3-2 in the Three Rivers and 4-3 overall, now goes to Sterling to take on the Newman Comets next Saturday in an 8 p.m. contest. Erie drops to 0-5-1 and 0-6-1, respectively.

Bears renew ties

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Many members of the Chicago Bears will be renewing old ties in western Pennsylvania Sunday when they visit the Pittsburgh Steelers for a National Football League game.

Starting at the top, Chicago General Manager Jim Finks is an ex-Steelers, as are special teams coach John Hilton. Another assistant, Ross Fichtner, is from nearby McKeesport, Pa.

Defensive end Mike Hartenstein, punter Bob Parsons and reserve fullback Tom Donchez all played their college ball at Penn State.

Linebacker Doug Buffone graduated from Shannock Valley High School, defensive end Gary Hrivnak is from Johnstown, defensive back Doug Plank is from Irwin, corner back Ted Vactor is from Washington, Pa., and linebacker John Babinecz graduated from Pittsburgh's Central Catholic High School.

Wide receiver Ron Shanklin, traded to Chicago during the preseason, is the only player on the Bear roster to have played with Pittsburgh, and he is listed as doubtful for Sunday with a knee injury.

Whoever takes the field doesn't figure to enjoy a happy homecoming, however. The Steelers, 3-1 so far this season, are heavily favored over the rebuilding Bears, 1-3.

While Chicago owns a lopsided 16-2-1 edge in the series which dates back to 1934, the two Steeler victories and the tie all have come in the last six meetings.

Further, the Steelers will be looking for their eighth straight victory over a National Football Conference opponent and have not been defeated at home by an NFC team since 1971.

And if the Steelers need more incentive, they need a win to stay close to the Cincinnati Bengals, who lead the American Conference's Central Division by one game.

The Steeler defense has allowed just 45 points, fewest of any team in the NFL, while the Bears have given up 103, more than all but three teams in the league.

Offensively, Pittsburgh is fourth in the league with 120 points scored while Chicago's 32 puts them fourth from the bottom.

Forreston forces Mid-Northern tie

By JIM FOX
Telegraph Sports Writer
POLO—Forreston racked up 15 points in the final six minutes to erase what was a close battle as the Cardinals dumped the Polo Marcos 28-12, here, Friday night in Mid-Northern Conference action. The heartbreaking loss by Polo sets up a tie for first place between the two teams, as each club holds a 5-1 conference record.

The initial 42 minutes of play were evenly matched. Both teams were hitting hard and displaying a moveable offense. But with six minutes to go, Forreston broke loose on a 29-yard touchdown run by John Collman that shattered a close 13-12 Cards advantage. Less than a minute later, after an interception, Mike Ross carried 43 yards for the score and Forreston had the key win.

The opening plays of the game demonstrated what was to be the action throughout the evening. Forreston received the initial kickoff and started to march downfield. Collman and Ross were the carriers in the first drive that was abruptly ended on the Cards 48 on a fumble recovered by Mark Person, set up on a Randy Dunn hard hit of Forreston quarterback Mike Capps.

Polo took over after the fumble, but were unable to move. The Marcos and the Cardinals both displayed an awesome defense in the game, although Polo's line took a beating in the final quarter.

The teams exchanged punts and interceptions as the first period came to a conclusion. Ross picked off a Jeff Grobe aerial to put the Cards in good field position, with just over two minutes remaining in the first quarter. But Scott Bartelt returned the favor with an interception of a Capps toss 40 seconds later.

Midway through the second quarter, Polo was mounting a drive as the Marcos found themselves on their own 45 and steadily gaining yardage. A mixed up hand-off resulted in a loose ball that Forreston's Dave Harrenstein jumped on and the momentum tide turned to the Cards.

Taking over on their own 46, Forreston began to roll in a drive that pushed the initial score of the night on the board. Capps and Ross picked up small yardage on the ground, so senior quarterback Capps decided to go to the air.

He picked his favorite receiver, junior end Carl Ratmeyer, and connected on a 12-yard gain that placed the ball on the Polo 39. Ross drove for three up the middle as the clock recorded 3:35 left in the first half.

Once again Capps went to the air and, once again, Ratmeyer pulled it in. But this time Ratmeyer was wide open downfield and the speedy receiver scampered into the end zone. The touchdown pass marked Capps's 13th of the season and 10th to Ratmeyer. Steve Stocker booted the extra point and the Cards took a 7-0 lead.

Polo came right back to demonstrate why it had been previously unbeaten as the Marcos struck quickly and solidly. On the first offensive play after the touchdown, fullback Ray Schmidt got loose for a 60-yard run up the middle. A desperation lunge by the Cards' Joe Meyers tripped Schmidt on the 12, spoiling his bid for a touchdown run.

Bartelt drove for six while Schmidt picked up three to place the Marcos on the three. An offside penalty moved the ball to the two and gave Polo a big first down and goal to go.

Tim Mount tried twice to take it in, but was just inches short. Polo then committed an offside penalty that put the ball back to the five. Grobe hit Mount on the short pass on the left and the senior pranced in for six big ones. A Grobe to Dunn conversion pass attempt was thrown low and the Marcos had to settle with a 7-6 Cards advantage at half.

The second half was one of inches for Polo, as the Marcos missed on a fourth down play that was so close the officials had to look at it from several angles. The call went to Forreston, and from then on it was the visitors' game.

With but :53 remaining in the third period, Forreston took a 13-6 lead on a two-yard plunge over the top by Capps. Stocker's extra-point attempt was blocked.

The Marcos refused to lie down and die. In fact, the home team started to march downfield after the Cards' touchdown with more enthusiasm than they had shown all night. Bartelt capped a 63-yard 13-play drive with a 15-yard run up the gut that pulled Polo within one, at 13-12, and marked only the second time this season two touchdowns have been scored in one game on the Forreston defense.

But a low toss from Grobe to Scott Smith was incomplete, and Polo remained behind. A pass just a little higher would have been easily pulled in from a wide-open Smith, and Polo could have had the lead and the momentum.

"There was no one turning point in the game," stated Polo head coach Dwight Sellers on the long walk back to the locker room after the disappointing loss. "If we had made those two conversions, well, maybe it would have been a different game."

"You can't expect to win

when you make defensive mental errors. You just can't give up four touchdowns and expect to win."

Collman and Ross ran for their 34- and 43-yard touchdowns, respectively, immediately after Polo's six points that pulled the home team within one. Sam Fager picked off a Grobe aerial to set up Ross's long run. Ross hit Ratmeyer with a two-point conversion on a fake kick after Collman's jaunt, and Stocker split the up-rights on the final scoring of the game.

The statistics were not one-sided, as Forreston only out-gained Polo 282-218 in total yardage. Ross picked up 104 of the 193 rushing yards on 19 carries to lead the Cards, followed by Collman's 55 on 10 carries. Capps ran for 25 yards and connected on four of 10 for 89 markers.

Schmidt gained 78 of Polo's 133 ground yards on 10 carries to lead the Marcos. Mount was the next closest back, with 21 on 12 carries. Grobe hit on 11 of 18 for 85 markers.

As far as state qualifier in the Mid-Northern Conference goes, everything depends on next Friday's contests. Polo travels to Oregon, while Forreston hosts Mt. Morris. If both Polo and Forreston are victorious, Forreston will go to state since it defeated Polo.

Steve Bartelt swpt 27 yards around left end to pull the Polo underclassmen from a 22-20 deficit and hand the frosh-soph squad a 28-22 lead. Bartelt swept right on a 30-yard scamper minutes later, as Polo won going away 34-22.

Hubs gain share of Southwest title

ROCHELLE—The Rochelle Hubs gained at least a share of the NCIC Southwest crown and a possible Illinois High School Association playoff berth with a 21-15 decision over the Princeton Tigers, here, Friday night.

Rochelle utilized 13 first-quarter points en route to its sixth win of the campaign against one loss. The Hubs are perfect in four outings in the NCIC while Princeton incurred its first conference loss. The Tigers fall to 5-2 overall.

Aaron Fleming bolted four yards and Dave Wyatt scored from the 36 to highlight the first quarter for Rochelle. Jay Kissack booted one extra point. Princeton rallied to slice the deficit to 13-7 before half as Tim Conkling raced five yards to pay dirt.

Jerry Thompson kicked the conversion. A one-yard blast by Mike Dyer continued the Rochelle scoring in the final stanza. Andy Colbert caught the two-point conversion pass. The Tigers trimmed the victory margin to six points as Phil Turner tossed a four-yard scoring strike to Randy Staton. Turner passed to Pete Lasier for the conversion.

Rochelle once again keyed its success with rushing as the Hubs ground out 346 of their 353 yards in the trenches. Dyer unofficially ended with 144 yards rushing in 25 carries. Turner had eight completions in 14 attempts for the losers for 77 yards.

The Hubs can now wrap up the NCIC Southwest title and a state playoff berth by beating Hall at home next Friday.

Mounders lose

MT. MORRIS—Sophomore quarterback Rick McKnight threw for a pair of touchdowns, scored on himself on a 33-yard dash, kicked four extra points and fired a two-point conversion pass to lead the Stillman Valley Indians to a 48-20 triumph over the Mt. Morris Mounders, here, Friday night.

McKnight's performance enabled the Indians to improve their Mid-Northern record to 2-2-2 and 2-3-2 overall while Mt. Morris slips to 2-4 and 3-4, respectively. Stillman Valley also took the sophomore game 34-6.

The Indians collected 21 points in the opening quarter as Marty Winterland sandwiched a pair of scoring runs (one and 16 yards) around a 10-yard aerial from McKnight to Jim Brace. McKnight booted the trio of conversions.

A 24-yard run by Jerry Champlain and a McKnight conversion pass to Brad Houston upped the margin to 29-0 in the second frame before the Mounders could get on the scoreboard when Dan Waddell found Ronn Claussen for eight yards and six points.

Ken Keilsmeier ran seven yards to tally for Mt. Morris to open the second-half scoring but McKnight came back with his 33-yard scamper. McKnight booted the point and Stillman Valley had a 36-14 advantage. Winterland upped the score to 42-14 on a seven-yard run.

McKnight cranked up his throwing arm again in the final dozen minutes with a 51-yard bomb to Brace. Waddell matched the touchdown pass with a five-yarder to Ron Alden before time expired. Mt. Morris travels to Forreston in a key Mid-Northern battle next Friday.

Princeville romps over Walnut 44-20

PRINCEVILLE—The league-leading Princeville Princes upped their Blackhawk slate to an unblemished 7-0 with a 44-20 pounding of the Walnut Blue Raiders, here, Friday night. It was the sixth loss in seven games for Walnut.

Princeville zoomed to a 32-0 half-time lead as five different players scored. Dave Colgan plunged one yard and Pete Haynes grabbed a 14-yard aerial from Rob Butler in the opening quarter.

The Princes added three more touchdowns in the second stanza as Dan Clark dashed in from eight yards out, Butler spiraled a 41-yard aerial to Jeff King and Bill Allen zoomed 50 yards on a run. Allen added a two-point conversion on a Butler pass.

It became 38-0 as Butler hit Haynes with a 30-yard pass in the third quarter. Walnut, limited to 25 yards at half, finally got its offense untracked in the last dozen minutes. Ken Wilcoxen plunged one yard for six points before Clark upped the Princeville lead to 44-6 on a six-yard dash.

The Blue Raiders made the final margin 24 points as Jim Dietz broke a 30-yard touchdown run and Tim Renner gathered in a 58-yard bomb from Jack Oberle. Oberle hit Pat Dienslake with one conversion Pass.

Princeville ended with 436 net yards with 275 rushing. Walnut was limited to 229 yards, with 114 rushing and 115 passing. The Blue Raiders now return home to face Dunlap next Friday.

Anderson gets 26 points in Ohio win

NEPONSET—Mike Anderson tallied three touchdowns and four two-point conversion dashes as the Ohio Bulldogs crushed the Neponset Zephyrs 38-0, here, Friday night in a Little Eight Conference football battle.

Anderson scored on a six-yard run in the first quarter and then came back with a 44-yard jaunt in the second frame. Anderson added the two-point conversion. Jim Brandau then returned a pass interception for 60 yards for another score. Anderson tacked on the conversion. It was the second consecutive contest Brandau had returned a pass interception for a touchdown.

Anderson bolted 43 yards to tally in the third quarter and then added the conversion. Duane Blaine looped a scoring pass to Bruce Schultz for the last Ohio touchdown. Anderson rounded out the scoring with the two-point run.

Anderson ended the night with 173 yards in 15 carries. The Bulldogs amassed 548 net yards offensively with 486 via the ground. Schultz tacked on 99 yards rushing in eight chances while sophomore Larry Downey accumulated 63 markers in 11 attempts. Blaine added 68 yards in eight carries and completed four of 10 passes for an additional 62 yards. Ohio finished with three pass interceptions with Brandau picking off a pair and Blaine swiping one.

Ohio, now 5-1 in Little Eight action and 6-1 overall, returns home to face Annawan in the title contest next Thursday. Annawan is 5-0-1. Neponset drops to 0-6 both for the season and the campaign.

Comets fall 28-26

FULTON — The Newman Comets scored twice in the final two minutes, here, Friday night but missed both two-point conversions to drop a 28-26 decision to the Fulton Steamers in a key Three Rivers football contest.

Fulton now stands all alone atop the Three Rivers standings with a 5-0 slate while Newman falls to 4-1 with two games remaining. The Steamers are 6-1 overall while the Comets fall to 5-2.

"It was a heck of a ball game," Newman head varsity coach Bob Million related. "A tie would do us no good so we had to play for the win." If the two teams had tied, Fulton owns a plus factor in the league statistics and would probably have been awarded an Illinois High School Association football playoff spot on that basis.

Jeff Kelly opened the scoring for the Comets with a 30-yard run with Joe Hutten kicking the extra point. Fulton's Jim Snyder retaliated with a five-yard dash. Each team scored again in the second quarter as Newman quarterback Jim Nieman plunged one yard with Jose Diaz kicking the extra point. Larry Kettler then broke a 62-yard run for the Steamers. Snyder added the conversion run.

Fulton assumed a 22-14 lead in the third quarter on a quarterback sneak by Kevin Keegan. Keegan bootlegged for the decisive conversion. Snyder's 40-yard burst upped the Steamers advantage to 28-14 in the final stanza before the Comets took advantage of a pair of fumble recoveries.

Hutten fell on the first Fulton bobbie with Newman turning the miscue into six points on a 61-yard aerial from Nieman to Hutten. The run failed. Tom Warkins then recovered the second Steamers fumble. Newman moved upfield with Kelly capping the drive with a one-yard plunge but again the two-point conversion run misfired.

Million felt a key point to the game was Fulton maintaining possession of the ball for 10:30 in the third quarter when the Steamers kept alive a 13-play, 48-yard drive after the second-half kickoff.

Linebacker Hi Jim Ditsch had 13 tackles and defensive halfback Warkins 14 stops to place the Comets in that department. Newman now returns home to face Amboy in a Three Rivers encounter against the Amboy Clippers next Saturday.

Hitting, pitching and a kiss for Reds

BOSTON (AP) — It was a combination of clutch hitting, sweet pitching and a kiss from Lady Luck that brought the Cincinnati Reds back to Fenway Park leading the World Series 3-2.

The National League champions, who were favored to beat the Red Sox in baseball's colorful show, were lucky to get out of Boston alive last weekend and fortunate to be sitting in the driver's seat this weekend.

The Reds were one out away from losing Game 2 last Sunday but came off the critical list and rallied for the winning runs on a seeing-eye single by Dave Concepcion and a double by Ken Griffey.

Happy with their great escape from Boston, the Reds took a 2-1 lead with the help of the "collision bunt" play in Game 3. The infamous play not only knocked Boston's Sox off, but provided enough fuel for the whole hot stove league season.

With the extraordinary game tied at 5-5 in the 10th, the Reds had a man on first with nobody out and Ed Armbrister, quite logically, laid down a sacrifice bunt.

What followed, however, was somewhat bizarre.

It turned into baseball's version of the "statue of liberty" play as Armbrister stood stock-still while Fisk attempted to follow the bouncing ball. Fisk plowed through Armbrister and in his haste to nail the lead runner, threw wildly into center field, allowing both runners safety.

Fisk and Boston Manager Darrell Johnson argued vociferously with home plate umpire Larry Barnett that the runner had interfered with the catcher's play, but to no avail. They lost the argument and eventually the game when Joe Morgan hit a bases-loaded single.

Despite taking a 2-1 lead in the Series, Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson was well aware that his team wasn't up to top form.

"We've played worse," said the Reds manager, "but we've played a whole lot better, too."

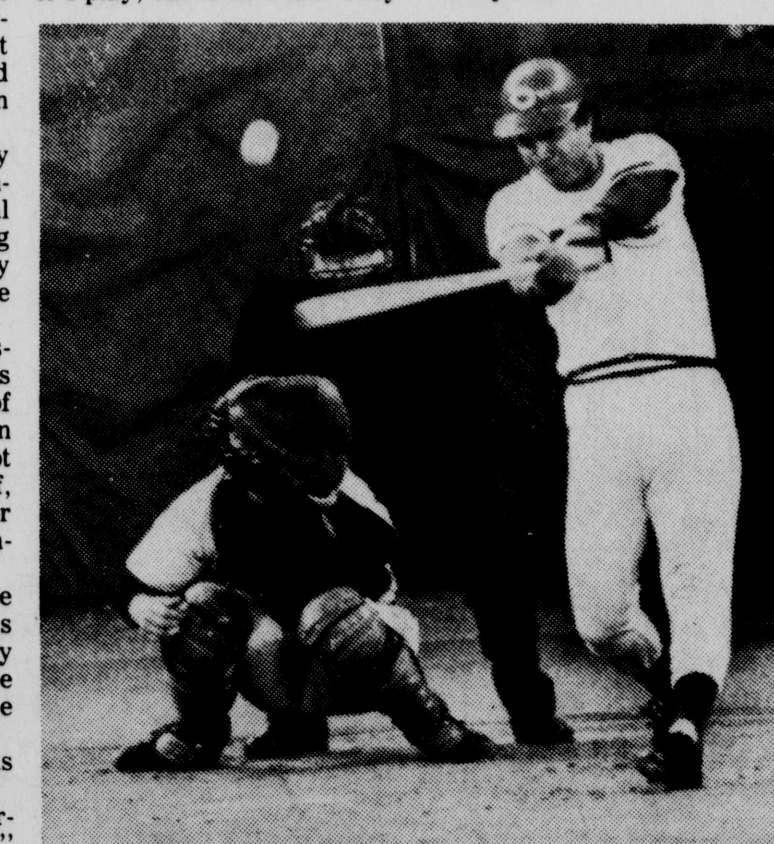

This was evident in Game 4 Wednesday night, when a courageous performance by Luis Tiant beat the Reds and tied the remarkable series at 2-2. Tiant was not nearly as effective as his first-game start, when he shut out the Reds, but he had enough to beat them with his second-best stuff.

After the fifth game, however, it was agreed by most everyone that the Reds finally showed the kind of team that won 108 games during the regular season. Tony Perez drove in four runs on two homers and Don Gullett pitched as well as he ever did as the Reds beat the proud American League champions with clinical ease, 6-2.

"I think the Reds gained more respect for us than they had at the beginning," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson in an overview of the skin-tight series.

Anderson insisted that the Reds always had respect for the Red Sox.

"Until the fifth game, we just weren't playing up to our ability," the Cincinnati manager said. "I would like to think it was our own fault, but I know better. I know that Boston had a lot to do with it—they were just cutting off everything we did well. They're a heck of a baseball team."

Computer plan is killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $62-million deal to buy computers for the Agriculture Department has been killed after congressional criticism that it might lead to federal snooping into the private lives of farmers and other citizens.

The computer plan was scuttled after Congress a week ago approved a $10.8 billion department appropriations bill, but reduced a "working capital" fund intended to help pay for the computers.

Joseph R. Wright Jr., assistant secretary of agriculture for administration, said Thursday that he had notified three computer companies — final bidders on the contract — that the project was canceled. Delivery of the computers was to have begun in December.

Identical letters to the companies said the cancellations were a result of Congress reducing the working capital fund.

Until now, there has been no limit on the fund. But in looking over Agriculture appropriations, Congress fixed an initial lid of $47 million. That was cut to $37 million by House-Senate conferees, a level officials said is too small to begin paying for the new computers.

Wright said on Thursday that the limit ordered by Congress will not prevent individual Agriculture agencies from buying new computers to keep pace with rising demands in such programs as rural housing and timber sales.

Wright said costs would be "substantially more" than $62 million because of the delay and because Agriculture cannot now buy new computers in a one-shot deal.

The department began planning a centralized computer network several years ago, initially to keep track of the mountain of information then involved in federal farm programs for controlling crops.

When the General Services Administration, the government's procurement agency, got wind of the plan, it developed a much more ambitious blueprint for a nationwide computer network called FEDNET. It ultimately was scrapped as a result of congressional concern that it posed a serious threat to the privacy of individuals.

A report last June by the General Accounting Office, a watchdog agency of Congress, reviewed Agriculture's role in the nationwide plan and said the department should reconsider its computer buying program. The GAO said Congress became concerned about the USDA computer because it "could pose a serious threat to the privacy of individuals."

A high price might keep you from buying a new home.
But a low price shouldn't.

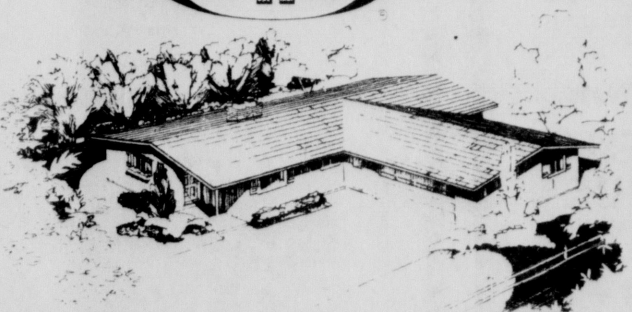

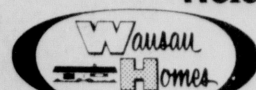

A Wausau Home costs thousands of dollars less than comparable homes. Because of the way we buy materials and the efficiency of our controlled building system.

For example, every Wausau Home is built with the finest grade kiln-dried lumber, 100% copper plumbing. Real ceramic tile walls and floors in the bath.

We buy the very best and we buy in quantity. Which lowers the price, not the quality. And we build under the very best conditions, indoors, out of the weather.

Stop by for a close look at a Wausau Home. But don't let our low prices scare you. That shouldn't keep you from buying the new home you want.

Welcome Home.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-696: Ms. "X," wrote a redhot letter to her local editor.

"I protest your running Dr. Crane's column in our newspaper," she began.

"Maybe he thinks he can pontificate about 'boudoir cheesecake' and attack Women's Lib with impunity."

"But we ERA advocates resent his 'applepiety,' too, for he keeps citing Bible references to document his ideas."

"Doesn't he realize that millions of Americans are atheists, so we grow nauseated about his ultra conservative psychology and especially his constant use of Bible quotations?"

Applepiety
This combination of "Apple-piety" with "Boudoir Cheesecake" is fascinating.

For Ms. "X" is quite correct in focussing on those two items on the psychological menu that are essential for happy homes and a solvent Republic.

"Applepiety" refers to my psychological stress on the basic moral ingredients that are as true today as ever in past history.

The Bible outlines the blueprint for mankind's happiness on this Earth.

For certain axioms in the realm of "Human Relations" are just as pertinent to modern problems as the supposedly old-fashioned laws of gravity, the multiplication tables and the Ten Commandments.

Alas, many modern Americans have developed what we label as unwarranted scientific egotism, based on IBM electronic computers. Voyages to the moon, and heart transplants.

But "Applepiety" refers to the simple fact that "horse sense," or "gumption," still is required to correct errors made by the computers.

Nor can mankind ignore gravity with impunity even in 1975!

Furthermore, heart transplants and many other ingenious medical operations will never be of aid to the millions of you cigar addicts when you suddenly fall over in a massive heart attack!

Instead, your good health is still dependent on food from the soil, plus trace chemicals as from the oceans!

"Wife swapping" and Playboy Magazine may further titillate the jaded erotic verve of half-platonic males.

But a seductive wife who can beat parous at concocting boudoir cheesecake, still is the best insurance for a happy marriage.

So here are a few psychological axioms that fall under that caption of my "Applepiety" cases:

(1) This is still a man's world, where even the ERA females lose interest in, and respect for, sissy males!

(2) A majority of creative workers in America know that Uncle Sam can never borrow his way out of debt!

(3) Alas, Hitler's "divide & rule" technique makes originally competent American Congressmen heed the various demands for handouts from different segments of their Congressional districts.

Labor thus asks Uncle Sam for bigger wages, farmers demand higher prices, employers crave subsidies, colleges and public schools clamor for more federal millions to furnish school lunches, new buildings, etc.

So the former statesmanlike Congressmen degenerate into boondoggling which forces a steadily zooming tax increase.

Turning Uncle Sam into "Big Brother" is Hitler's strategy, not "Applepiety."

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Your judgment is excellent today on things that affect you alone. If you try to extend your thinking to cover others, you'll get into a heap of trouble.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You tend to count on a little more than you have coming today. You'll be disappointed when you don't get all you hoped for.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Don't wear out your welcome if invited to a social gathering today. If you're one of the first to arrive, be sure to be one of the first to leave.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Someone you're going to rely on today won't be there when you need him. Count on the only one you can — yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
A person you'll have a discussion with today feels as strongly about the subject as you do, only you'll be on opposite sides of the fence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Pressure will be brought to bear on you by a person who was reluctant to take "no" for an answer yesterday. Give him the same reply.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Although you will solicit advice from others today, their answers won't really register. You'll do things as you first intended.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Pay particular attention to health matters today. Don't overexert yourself. Curl up with a good book or the TV.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You may have trouble handling the children today, but not nearly as much as you'll have if you let some busybody really gum up the works.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You and your mate better decide early who's going to be in charge today. Your wigwag isn't large enough for two chiefs and no Indians.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Keep your ideas in perspective today. Though you may think in grandiose terms, you're missing a lot of small, necessary details.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Be more protective than usual of your possessions today, for you may find someone taking a liking to something you're particularly fond of yourself.

Your Birthday
Oct. 19, 1975

You're going to enter into a partnership arrangement this coming year that will be quite lucky for you. Your partner will be very enterprising. Some of this may rub off on you.
